

*PDF Attachment "test-plan.pdf" included within email.

Hello David,

Apologies for writing to you on a Sunday, our group is trying to tie together all of our documents and we're unsure whether or not we're correctly meeting all of our requirements for Stage 2 of the module. I was wondering if something like this is what is expected for our test plans document, describing our unit tests, or whether it's something more general like simple descriptions of what sections of our program will be tested and how, like your description: "Test that a director can read all the documents on the system."

In the brief.

I think our initial understanding of the assessment required far more thorough documentation than what you were actually asking of us, so if a simpler solution like that is all that's required it'll help us a lot in meeting the deadline.

Thank you for your time,
Marin.